Sunday's Rain a Drop in the Bucket Compared with Storm 14 Years Ago

This is not to put down the universal misery on Sunday when the rains came and spoiled all sorts of fine summer plans — plans made in expectation of the good weekend promised by the forecasters.

But the 1.5 inches that came down were a drop in the bucket compared with the July rainstorm that fell almost 14 years ago to the day.

Nine inches of rain fell in a 24-hour period, from 8 a.m., July 14, to 8 a.m. July 15, 1975. Borough intersections were impassable — and there wasn't even road reconstruction going on. Water was three feet deep on Randall Road and six feet deep on Route 1 where it dipped under the Dinky overpass. And people were being rescued from their homes in boats by the First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Lack of Designated Sites, Soft Real Estate Market Hurting Township's Affordable Housing Program

The Township's affordable housing program seems to be in difficulty — or so one would infer from the statement given the Planning Board last week by Housing Board Chairman John F. Kelsey III.

Mr. Kelsey came before the Board to identify additional potential affordable housing board to identify additional potential affordable housing sites in the plan. "We are very concerned that the lack of specific affordable site designations will hurt our ability to meet our obligations in the short term and make it difficult if not impossible to provide affordable housing in the longer term," he said.

Mr. Kelsey went on to list the difficulties of producing and maintaining affordable housing in Princeton, which he said, are increasing. "Public monies for subsidies are becoming scarcer; the soft real estate market is playing havoc with our ability to subsidize affordable units with market priced units; and political and regulatory factors are slowing down the developer fees that were supposed to be the primary source of money to create affordable housing in Princeton.

"As a result, meeting our obligation [for 275 units] by 1995 as mandated [by Judge Serpentelli] in the Judgment of Repose will be a real challenge." Mr. Kelsey said meeting the obligation can only be accomplished if the real estate market improves and if there are a large number of sites and options for affordable housing that will give the Township the flexibility to adapt to changing market and environmental forces.

"Just a few months ago," Mr. Kelsey went on, "the housing board was confident that it could meet the fair share obligation presented to Judge Serpentelli. Now, because of factors beyond our control, virtually every single element of the plan faces some risk as do the developments from which we hope will flow the necessary anticipated income."

Master Plan Set for Adoption; Amendments Sure to Follow

The Planning Board was expected to adopt the community Master Plan last Tuesday night several hours after TOWN TOPICS had closed up this issue and gone to press.

Although the adoption of the document that charts the course of development in Princeton over the next decade or more is a significant event in the life of the community, it was clear from the remarks made by Planning Board Chairwoman Margen Penick at last Thursday's final public hearing on the draft plan that several issues have not been resolved and amendments would be forthcoming.

At last Thursday's hearing, the Planning Board agreed that language stating that "This is a rolling Master Plan that will need to be updated on a more frequent basis than the required six years because of the rapid rate of change" would be added to the introduction.

The board also agreed informally to accept changes recommended by the Master Plan subcommittee to be incorporated in most of the Master Plan "elements." The only element not discussed last week was land use, which was expected to be the focus of this week's meeting.

Reached by telephone Tuesday morning, Mrs. Penick said that the Master Plan subcommittee would recommend that the land use concept proposed by the Institute for Advanced Study (see map, page 18) be postponed for further study. "Not all the neighbors have had a chance to see the map, and postponing it until September gives us a chance to study how much density is feasible," she said.

The Master Plan had proposed a new agricultural/residential zone at a density of 10

Borough Affordable Housing Has Been Slowed by Rain; Move-In Target Still November

On the site of the old basketball court on John and Clay Streets — as well as across Clay, where there was once a small patch of vacant land — stand eight affordable housing units being constructed by Princeton Borough. The exteriors are almost finished, making them look almost complete, but some interior work remains.

Across town, on Hamilton Avenue near Linden Lane, work continues on 16 affordable housing units. Progress here has been slowed by the rain, but the move-in date for both John Street and Hamilton Avenue is still targeted for November 1.

Ahead is the marketing of the units, which will be sold on a lease-purchase arrangement. In this, tenants pay rent for a period of several years and this rent is then applied to their down payment.

The Borough has hired Karl Light to help with marketing and with ushering applicants through the qualifying process. No date for the beginning of this process has yet been set.

THEY'RE OFF! 35 contestants, carrying a tray, two glasses and a split of champagne, participated in the walters' race around Palmer Square last Friday afternoon as part of Princeton's Bastille Day festivities, celebrating the 200th anniversary of the French revolution. A couple of hundred people came to the Square to sample French food and drink, listen to 18th-century French music, and view the race won by Rob McGroarty of the American Diner. Rain

Not surprisingly, July, 1975, holds the record for the wettest July. Also not surprisingly — given the heavy rains that have punctuated this month — we are well on our way to rivaling this record.

The total amount of rain in July, 1975, was 13.39 inches. This year, almost seven inches fell by July 17, with two full weeks to go.

Wading Pool Hours

The wading pool in Harrison Street Park is open and will be open weekdays from 10 to noon, and also on Tuesdays from 1 to 4.

The park is located on Harrison Street just off Nassau Street. For more information, call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

DON'T LEAVE HOME WITHOUT IT: Several rainy days so far and more forecast have made the umbrella more of a necessity than an American Express card during the month of July.

The unexpected appearance of rain on Sunday was caused by a cold front that had provided good weather on Friday and Saturday, then headed south, stalled in North Carolina, and returned this way filled with moisture from the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico. "It's very difficult to figure these things," said David Ludlum, Princeton weather historian. "Otherwise there would be a perfect record."

"This is a total reverse of last summer," he added. "That's the way weather goes. We never get the same thing twice."

Remember Last Summer? By August of 1988 — the hottest summer in 33 years — stores had simply run out of air conditioners. Water pressure was a problem, particularly in the town's higher elevations, and the Fire Department was keeping a close watch on hydrants. Restrictions on the outdoor use of water were in effect, although by August it seemed that people were too hot to wash their cars or hold hoses by hand (the only kind of lawn watering permitted.) If July turns out to be the second wettest on record, it would simply be following this summer's pattern. Both May and June were the second wettest, with 8½ inches falling in May and ten inches in June.

And coming up? Rain is forecast at least through the end of the week.

Housing

"There may be a close time between finishing the units and picking the people, but I don't see a problem in qualifying people quickly," said Borough Community Development Director Frank Slimak.

The housing currently under construction is part of 68 units of affordable housing to be built by the Borough. Of these, 17 will be for low-income families; 20 for moderate-income families; 17 at a moderate market rate; and 14 at a higher market rate.

Construction at the two remaining housing sites — Maclean Street and Shirley Court — has not yet begun. "We hope to do these sites in one fell

Step Right Up and Choose Your Curbing! The Preference Seems to Be for Granite

It's taken a while — the first two numbers of Contract 87-2 refer to the year the project was initiated — but the reconstruction of several roads and curbs in the western Borough is nearing completion, and the results are handsome.

Some say too handsome — faulting granite curbing for being twice as expensive as concrete. But most people don't realize that the granite is replacing bluestone curbstones which were installed when these streets were paved in the first decade of this century. As far as Borough Engineer Carl Peters can tell, that was around 1905.

According to Mr. Peters, bluestone is practically as durable as granite but is not being quarried extensively nowadays and thus is difficult to obtain and very expensive. Although concrete curbing may cost less — $14 to $15 per linear foot as opposed to $27 to $28 for granite, laying concrete may vary in quality. A good concrete job, Mr. Peters says, lasts about 40 years.

What is also not generally known about the road reconstruction in the western section is the lengths to which the Borough Engineering Department went to meet the residents' preferences while also maintaining the character of the streets.

Five Year Program. Mr. Peters says that when he was interviewed for his job in November, 1984, the mayor and members of Borough Council told him the Borough was facing serious problems with its roads and that if hired he would be asked to develop a road reconstruction program. By the end of 1985 Mr. Peters had developed a five-year program involving key roads throughout the Borough.

A new road behind Davidson's was also under consideration at the time, a project which seems to be on hold. The repaving/reconstruction projects included the Paul Robeson-Wiggins-Hamilton artery; a number of roads in the western section; Prospect Street and Harrison Street south of Nassau Street; and Washington Road.

The Borough received a grant for $56,000 for Paul Robeson Place, and had to move this section ahead of its Wiggins/Hamilton counterparts to meet the Department's Transportation timetable. Another grant was received for

THE YELLOW BRICK GUTTER: This one is on Hunter Road, where curbs and gutters did not exist before. However, brick gutters were a staple of many Borough streets dating back to the early years of the century, and a design element that Borough Engineer Carl Peters felt worthy of retaining if the residents were willing to be assessed for them.

Harrison Street, which did not meet the complete reconstruction some of the other roads required, so that project, too, was advanced to meet the State deadlines. Harrison Street was completed last fall, with new concrete curbing and new sidewalk sections where the ex-

as Mr. Peters puts it, that the bluestone wasn't going back quite as well as he had hoped, and didn't look good. After more consultation with the neighbors, the contract was amended to provide for granite curbs.

TOPICS Of the Town

A contract for $751,000 has just been awarded for re-doing Prospect Street with granite curbs to replace the existing bluestone curbing and for repaving Washington Road.

Contract 87-2. The western Borough streets to be reconstructed under Contract 87-2 included Springdale Road, Library Place between Stockton and Hodge Road, Boudinot Street, Morven Place, Lilac Lane, Lafayette Street north of Cleveland Lane, and Hunter Road.

The project was divided up according to what needed to be done, and at an information meeting held at Borough Hall in early March, 1988, for abutting homeowners, residents were grouped accordingly. Lilac, Lafayette and Hunter, which had never had curbs, were to receive entirely new curbs and gutters and the residents were to be assessed for 50 percent of the cost. Some of the residents wanted these streets to remain curb-less, but Mr. Peters managed to convince them that curbing gives more of a finished look, helps channel water and keeps the edge of the pavement from breaking down.

He says he showed the residents samples of granite curbing, and they all agreed it would be preferable to concrete. Another group involved the residents of Library Place, Boudinot Street and Morven Place, where it was decided to re-set the existing bluestone curbing that had not been damaged over time, adding new bluestone as necessary.

Shortly after construction had begun, it became apparent,

Group I (Lilac, Lafayette and Hunter) decided they liked the look of brick gutters for their streets, even though they are 100 percent assessable to the abutting homeowner, and requested same. Group II (Morven, Library and Boudinot) decided they didn't want the extra expense, and whatever remains of the 1904 brick gutters, some of which have been broken or removed over time, will be paved over when the repaving is done.

Springdale Road residents asked for granite curbs and replacement of the sidewalk on the north side of the street. They were not in favor of continuing the existing brick gutters, nor of having a second sidewalk on the south side of the street. Springdale Road was completed also last fall.

Assessment Policy. Assessment hearings were held in August, 1988, when Borough Council was to vote on two separate ordinances authorizing the repairs — one for general improvements (reconstruction, paving, drainage) to be paid for by the municipality, the other for local improvements (sidewalks, driveway aprons, gutters) to be paid in whole or in part by the homeowners.

Mr. Peters says that several years ago, when Richard Woodbridge was on Council and head of the Public Works Committee, he raised the issue of a uniform assessment policy to cover improvements which are of some benefit to the public and some benefit to the homeowner. Up to that time, the policy had varied, sometimes 60/40, sometimes 40/60. Edgehill residents had paid 100 percent of the cost of repairing the brick gutters on their street.

Borough Council decided to make the policy simple and straightforward. Homeowners are assessed 50 percent for new curbs, with the municipality picking up the other 50 percent. Repairs to existing curbing is paid entirely by the municipality on the theory that the homeowner has paid his share either at the time the curb was installed or in the subsequent purchase price of the house. Brick gutters are 100 percent the responsibility of the homeowner.

As part of the overall design for Group I and II streets covered by Contract 87-2, the Borough will be installing brick crosswalks at its expense. Such a crosswalk exists now at Lilac Lane and Hodge Road. Some of the brick will be coming from brick gutters salvaged from streets where the residents said they didn't want brick gutters, but most of it will be new — yellow tinted concrete in brick blocks, according to Assistant Engineer Donald Mayer-Brown.

Urban vs. Suburban. Although Elam & Popoff of Bergen were the engineers for Contract 87-2, the design ideas originated with Mr. Peters and then were discussed with the Public Works Committee. "These streets are really more urban than suburban," he remarks. "I don't like a suburban look; it doesn't fit with the neighborhood. Neighborhoods are important, and you have to keep the neighborhood look."

About the granite vs. concrete curbs controversy, Mr. Peters is frank to say that he thinks granite "looks so much nicer" as well as being longer lasting. He cites the road in front of McCarter Theatre where concrete has replaced the original bluestone as "having lost something in the translation."

The change from bluestone to granite on the Group II streets did cost more, but only somewhat more because the contractor was able to get a good price on the larger quantity of granite that would be used, Mr. Peters says. The contractor was Marsellis Warner of Montclair. The total cost was $1.27 million.

He says that most of the comments from the residents have been favorable. They will receive their bills for the assessment after the contract is complete and will be given an extended period — State law allows up to 10 years — to pay. Furthermore, residents of other areas in the Borough will receive the same "customized" treatment that residents in the western section received.

"We're really trying to keep people happy," Mr. Peters says.

More Objections Raised To Chestnut Traffic Light

A public presentation by Ray Wadsworth and several other Princeton merchants on the controversial traffic light on Chestnut/Olden and Nassau Streets at last Tuesday's (July 11) Borough Council meeting, resulted in a lengthy and lively discussion among the merchants, mayor and members of Council.

"Let's get that light out of there. Let's do it!" exclaimed Mr. Wadsworth, who presented a petition listing specific complaints against the light and demanding its removal. He said 513 signatures had been gathered in just one day in support of the petition and that it will be sent to the New Jersey Department of Transportation.

Jody Furch of Varsity Liquors, Maria DePinto of Boutonniere by Guy, Tom and Lorrie Jannick of Craft Cleaners, Mila Gibbons-Gardner of Aparri Ballet School and Laura Procaccino, longtime Chestnut Street resident and spokesperson for the Concerned Citizens against the Light, all spoke out in opposition to the light. Among their complaints were severe decrease in business, backed-up traffic, accumulating exhaust fumes, hazardous crossing conditions and problems with emergency vehicles exiting the Chestnut Street Firehouse.

Mayor Barbara Sigmund and members of Council responded by saying that in view of such complaints, the Department of Transportation had been requested to undertake an official study regarding removal of the light, and that nothing could be done until the study was completed.

Mr. Wadsworth and others objected that not enough research had been done prior to the installation of the light and the mayor disagreed, saying that the Department of Transportation would not have installed the light without sufficient investigation to see whether the intersection warranted a light. This included studying traffic flow and accident incidents.

Others, including Ms. Procaccino and Mr. Furch, complained that no impact study had taken place; that is, inquiry into the significance of such a light on business, parking and pedestrians.

"As a lifelong Princeton resident, I resent the light," commented Ms. Procaccino. "Traffic backs up a third of the way down Chestnut, and I have to smell a lot of exhaust fumes."

Mr. Furch also objected to the fact that the public was unable to get information about the traffic flow and other studies, and the mayor agreed because of the light. Council member Jane Terpstra contradicted that interpretation, saying the loss of parking meters was due to the proximity of the store to the T-intersection (Chestnut/Olden and Nassau) and not because of the installation of the light. She referred to a State regulation which forbade parking at a T-intersection, and added that the meters had been illegal at that location.

Mayor Sigmund invited the merchants to make suggestions to alleviate the parking situation and said it would be helpful to meet with the Department of Transportation to deal with these problems. "We have to consider the needs of the merchants, the pedestrians and the parkers," she said. "There are always real conflicts when these kinds of decisions are made, and everyone's concern is legitimate. We welcome the views of the business people interested in trying to find a solution."

The discussion ended with Mr. Wadsworth thanking "the Mayor and Council for listening tonight" but also with the mer-

A store security member, police said, had noticed a suspect standing by the front door. The suspect appeared to be nervous. Suddenly, he grabbed the 25 shirts, went out the door and ran to a waiting maroon Ford pickup truck.

The suspects escaped. The shoplifter is described as a white male in his 20s, 5-10, 140 pounds, with short dark hair. He had a two- to three-day beard and was wearing blue jeans, a dark blue T-shirt, white sneakers and a blue baseball hat. The only description police have of the driver is white male with dark hair.

A 1987 VW recreational van was looted last week while it was parked outside the victim's home on Bayard Lane. Taken, police said, were clothing, a camp stove, garment bag and camping supplies valued at $1,050.

Windows Are Punctured At Library by BB Pellets

Three 5- by 10-foot windows on the Wiggins Street side of the Public Library were punctured early last week by BB pellets. Police have received no estimate of the replacement cost.

In a second incident of criminal mischief in the Borough, the left front fender of a 1986 Mazda of a Lawrenceville resident was damaged while the car was parked between 11:30 Saturday evening and 1:45 the next morning in the Tulane East yard.

"We're listing it as criminal mischief," said Lt. Peter Hanley, "because the car was parked in such a manner that no other vehicle would have been able to damage it."

In the Township, the windshield of a 1984 Ford was smashed while the car was parked in the lot adjacent to Krauszer's, 55 State Road. The owner is an employee of the store.

Lt. Anthony Gaylord commented that a group of boys had been trying to get into the store after it had closed. "They were angry and they could be suspects," he said. The victim, a resident of Princeton, discovered the vandalism when she left the store at 11:10 p.m. Damaged was estimated at $200.

The home was entered between 7:30 and 8:20 p.m. Again, the thief climbed a roof and removed a screen from an unlocked bathroom window on the north side of the house to gain entry.

Taken were several pieces of jewelry, including a wedding ring and gold neck chain, a jewelry box and coin bank. Total value was $600.

The previous week, the same modus operandi was used to enter a second-floor apartment in the 100 block of Nassau Street: climb onto a roof, push out a screen and enter an unlocked bedroom window. That entry yielded a CD player, stereo headphones, 35 mm camera and a clock radio. Total value: $865.

Asked about the apparent similarities in the entries, Lt. Peter Hanley commented: "Yes, they do seem similar. All three involved unlocked, second-floor, open windows." Police, he said, have no suspects.

In the Township, Lt. Anthony Gaylord reported the July 10 entry into a Cherry Valley Road home. The home was entered during daylight hours through an unlocked front window.

Taken were a VCR and a Minolta camera worth a combined $450.

Pedestrian Is Fondled In Palmer Sq. Incident

A 25-year-old Borough resident was fondled early last week while she was walking on Palmer Square at 4:45 in the afternoon.

Describing the case as an incident of criminal sexual contact, Lt. Peter Hanley said that the victim was not knocked down nor injured. He said she was able to see the suspect flee north on Witherspoon Street before calling police.

According to Lt. Hanley, the suspect ran up behind the victim, fondled her briefly and then ran away. No words were exchanged. He is described as a white male in his 20s, 5-7 to 5-8, heavy set with a beard and black hair.

Police responded and searched the area without success. "We're still looking for witnesses," Lt. Hanley said this week. The investigation is being continued by members of the detective bureau.

Storytelling Evening Held at Public Library

Irish storyteller Marianne McShane will present a family evening of storytelling on Tuesday at the Public Library. Cosponsored by the Princeton University storytelling residency, the program will begin at 7:30 and is open to adults and children 7 or older.

Because of the length and nature of some stories, this program is not suitable for younger children. Free tickets, required for admission, may be obtained at the Library or reserved at 924-9529.

Ms. McShane was born and grew up in County Down, Northern Ireland, and draws on the legends and folktales of her native Ireland for the stories she tells. For the last eight years she has been living the United States, where she is presently children's librarian at Chappaqua Library in New York State. She has told stories at libraries and museums in New York State, and has just recently returned from a seven-week visit to her home in County Down, where she took part in Northern Ireland's first Storytelling Festival.

The storytelling residency at Princeton University offers an opportunity for teachers, librarians, and adults who are interested in exploring the possibilities of storytelling in their work with children to share an intensive week with storyteller Susan Danoff on the University campus. Participants have the opportunity to focus on a single story and to hear a variety of types of stories and styles of telling, as well as learning various ways of approaching a story. Ms. McShane is guest artist at this year's residency.

Video Tape Is Available Of Princeton's History

The Historical Society has a new video on the history of Princeton. The 25-minute tape, a cooperative effort between the Society and residents of this historically rich town, explores the architectural, social, and ethnic forces that have shaped the Princeton of today.

"With this tape we hope to expand our educational reach beyond Bainbridge House," says Emily Wallace, Historical Society director. Ms. Wallace acknowledges the contributions of many residents to the project, including Lewis C. Cuyler, who helped assemble the video. Actor and real estate broker Karl M. Light, and former Historical Society trustee Nancy Knox, both assisted by narrating the tape, entitled Princeton — History.

The two-part video explores the early history of Princeton — the founding of Princeton University, the Battle of Princeton, and the building of the Delaware and Raritan Canal — through the eyes and voice of 19th-century historian John F. Hageman as portrayed by Mr. Light. It then contrasts the Princeton of Mr. Hageman's time to the Princeton of the 1980s.

In addition to Princeton — A History, the Society also has on view at its headquarters a second video tape on Princeton life recently featured on the television program New Jersey and You, which includes views of the Bainbridge House as well as excerpts from the Society's Sunday afternoon walking tour.

Princeton — A History may be borrowed through the office of the Historical Society, which is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Society members as well as schools and other educational institutions, may borrow the tapes for 48 hours free of charge. All others may borrow the tape for a $5 maintenance fee.

highlight their hopes that the house might be purchased for use as a cultural arts center.

The hosts were Ewa Zak, president of the Van Harlingen Historical Society, Joanne S. Scott, director of the Montgomery Arts Council, and Betty Bennett, who owns the Voorhees house and wants to sell it. Known as the Homestead Farm, the property — which originally encompassed 231 acres — was in the family for 100 years before the death in 1853 of Peter Voorhees, a farmer, lawyer, judge and legislator.

The house is believed to have been built between 1830 and 1840. It sits close to the highway on almost five acres of land a mile west of Blawenburg past Hollow Road. Members of the Montgomery Arts Council have been discussing the creation of a community cultural center as a cooperative venture among the nonprofit community service groups in the area.

The center would provide its member organizations with office space, classrooms, and rooms for meetings, display of arts and crafts, and even musical events. It is proposed that two sections. The front section, which contains several large rooms, is in need of some restoration. The rear section, which was restored in 1970 for family use, could be rented out for income, or turned into a small public library.

The organizers believe that the demand for services of a community cultural center could be quite large and that more space may be needed than is available now in the Voorhees house. One solution is to add another structure as demand grows. Another idea is to relocate the house to a new and larger basement set back from the highway.

The organizers are asking members of the community for suggestions and help on this project. Those interested are asked to call Ms. Scott at 359-8363, Carol Hanson, 359-4032, Pamela Enticknap, 874-5926, John Timmerman, 874-4316, Annabell Axtmann, 359-2143, Nancy Cohen, 359-7926; Mary Hardesty, 359-5144, or Ms. Zak, 359-6171.

Kick-Off Meeting Held For Chili Cook-Off

Mercer County freeholders and mayors gathered at Casa Lupita, Mercer Mall, with board members and community organizations from the Princeton Area Council of Community Services to kick-off the Greater Mercer Championship Chili Cook-Off.

On Saturday, September 16, from 11 to 4 at the Mercer County Park, West Windsor. Area restaurants will compete for the most flavorful and best chili in the Greater Mercer County area. The public will be invited to cast their ballots for the People's Choice. A panel of celebrity judges will also be on hand to judge the restaurants' favorite chili recipes.

Entertainment will include a jalapeno eating contest, watermelon seed-spitting contest, a fire safety magic show, barber-shop quartets, hayrides, antique cars, clowns, hourly drawings, and events for all ages. All community and service organizations from the 13 municipalities served by the Council are encouraged to join in the Spirit of Your Community and contact the Council of Community Services, 924-5865, for a designated location at the event.

Zoning Board Will Hear Restaurant Application

The Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment is scheduled to take up Leon Christen's application for a new 80-seat restaurant at 2-4 Nassau Street on Thursday, July 27, at 8 p.m. at Borough Hall. Mr. Christen is the owner of Lahiere's.

On Monday night, the Historic Preservation Review Committee approved the preservation plan, subject to certain revisions and comments. The committee was concerned about the hulk of the front entrance addition and about pedestrian safety at the driveway.

One specific suggestion was

AT KICK-OFF FOR COOK-OFF: Gathered at Casa Lupita to kick-off a chili cook-off to benefit the Princeton Council of Community Services were, back row, Mercer County Freeholders Anthony Carabelli and Bob Prunetti (honorary chairman); Pat Martin, executive director of the Council of Community Services; and Freeholder Paul Kramer. that the design of the rear entrance to the proposed restaurant, the Sotto Terra Cafe, be simplified. Architect for the project is Jim Carter of The Hillier Group.

The site plan classification for the restaurant was changed from minor to major, implying concern about the impact of the restaurant on pedestrian safety and on traffic movement in and out of the driveway, said Zoning Officer Frank Slimak.

Mr. Slimak expressed concern that the windbreak planned for the front entrance would set up a tunnel effect at the driveway, blocking visibility still further.

In a memo to the Historic Preservation Review Committee and the Zoning Board, he pointed out that the existing driveway entrance is not large enough for two-way traffic, and that it empties into a busy intersection. Since the development will not increase the size of the driveway nor improve the sight lines regarding pedestrian movements, Mr. Slimak wrote, "It is my opinion that added activity produced by the new restaurant use will seriously affect the safety of pedestrians at the driveway entranceway to Nassau Street."

Assistant Borough Engineer Donald W. Mayer-Brown stated that visibility for drivers is restricted by the six-foot-high brick wall along the westerly property line.

In a memo, he pointed out that the poor visibility at this site has already resulted in many requests to Mayor and Council for remedial action.

Loses License Two Years For Drunken Driving

In Township court last week, Lynn H. Cline, 133 Mansgrove Road, was fined a total of $615 and had her license revoked for two years for driving while intoxicated. In addition, she received a 30-day suspended jail sentence, was placed on probation for a year and ordered to spend 48 hours at the Intoxicated Drivers' Resource Center.

Denise Souffrant, 20 Lytle Street, was fined $125 and $30 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board as a disorderly person. In May, Ms. Souffrant was arrested in Community Park in possession of a butcher knife and a stick. She told police that she was looking for her 9 year-old son who had ridden off on his bike when he had been forbidden to do so. She was going to teach him a lesson by flattening his bicycle tires.

Joseph J. Malarczyk, 16 Princeton Ave., Rocky Hill, was fined $65 as an unlicensed driver and $20 for unregistered vehicle.

Civil Rights Commission Disappointed Over Choice for PHS Assistant Principal

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a copy of a letter we have written to the Princeton Regional Schools Board of Education.

This Commission wishes to express its disappointment at your recent decision to appoint a white male to become assistant high school principal.

At a time when questions are being raised about the treatment of and behavior towards black children in our school system, we think your decision in this matter most unfortunate; one that sends a wrong signal to the community as a whole and to black parents in particular.

We do not believe that candidates for any post should be selected on the basis of their color, sex or national origin. Indeed we would be opposed to any selection procedure based on those criteria alone. First and foremost the selection must be based on qualification. However, given equally qualified candidates any meaningful affirmative action program must take these factors into account.

We hope that in the future when vacancies occur, particularly senior administrative positions, that careful attention be paid to other concerns beyond qualifications. The time for talk is now over and action has to be taken.

Candidates for PHS Post Not Equally Qualified

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a letter sent to Max D. Blumenfeld, chairman, and Joan E. Hill, director, Joint Civil Rights Commission, in response to their letter to the Princeton Regional Board of Education.

The Board takes issue with your characterization of its recent decision as one "to appoint a white male to become assistant high school principal." The decision of the Board was to appoint the candidate it deemed best qualified for the position.

In support of her recommendation to appoint Mr. Owen Snyder, the Superintendent reported that there was unanimous agreement among the senior administrators that one of the candidates was "outstanding." The Board unanimously agreed with the assessment of the comparative merits of the candidates and so voted.

We also take issue with the judgement implied by your last statement that the School District has been focused on talk, not action, in seeking to diversify the staff. Both the candidate search and the screening process that led to this appointment reflect considerable action.

First, the search was guided by the Board's expressed interest in having as diverse a candidate pool as possible. The Administration took extensive formal and informal action to achieve that end: it advertised the position widely and sent notices to at least 50 major universities as well as to many professional journals and associations.

In addition, the senior administrators carried out wide-ranging informal activities. Each (including the Superintendent) contacted colleagues in colleges and universities, talked with professional executive searchers, consulted with other school districts, and acted on recommendations received from community members. In making these inquiries, the administrators expressed the District's interest in a highly qualified staff from diverse backgrounds.

Secondly, to help assure that the selection would be guided by community values, candidates were interviewed by advisory committees that included parents, teachers, staff, students, and other community members, including representation from the Joint Commission on Civil Rights.

Princeton as a community is enriched by the diversity of its population. The schools, a microcosm of the community, are equally fortunate in having students who, with their many different backgrounds and experiences, bring an important dimension to the educational environment they share.

The Board, while committed to the standard of excellence in its staff, agrees with the Commission that there is much to be gained from a teaching and administrative staff that reflects the diversity that is Princeton.

Given equally qualified candidates, the Board gives serious consideration to the factor of diversity of staff, as well as to the meaning and substance of affirmative action. In this instance, the Board was not faced with a choice of candidates with equal qualifications.

Fireworks Postponement Not Fault of Committee

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As the public knows, an unusual sequence of rain threats and storms caused this year's 4th of July Pops Concert and Fireworks celebration to begin on the 4th and conclude, 10 days later, on the 14th! This was the first time in 10 years that the nonprofit, volunteer-organized event was put through such a test. Princetonians were overwhelmingly sympathetic and flexible while Mother Nature called the shots for us all.

I'm sure the public does not know to what lengths the event's co-chairmen (Carol Munson of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League and Michael Kelly of the Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce) went to carry this celebration off. We have all hosted outdoor parties and feared what a change in the weather might mean.

Imagine — as Ms. Munson and Mr. Kelly did — the same concerns for an affair involving more than 12,000 guests! They worked relentlessly, and are to be commended, along with the admirably patient Chemical Bank of New Jersey, which paid for the fireworks entirely this year.

It's unfortunate that the angry woman who wrote TOWN TOPICS last week (July 12) felt so personally slighted at the postponement. She could not have known that the fireworks company — not the Pops Committee — cancelled the show only hours before on the 5th, out of concern for the safety of their employees who must literally "run" through the mud and darkness to extinguish each falling bomb. She apparently did not know that the local radio stations had been advised of the change, along with the University switchboard and the Pops information line.

In complaining about ticket prices, she also must not realize that this nonprofit event makes possible the presentation of free children's concerts for the Princeton area school children (last year to 3,400 of them). The ticket prices I've not risen in years, and are kept as low as possible while still covering such "essentials" as traffic and security forces, portable toilets, location rental, etc.

But the greatest "essentials" of all for this event are numerous volunteers. As anyone working with community organizations knows, volunteers are increasingly hard to find these days, particularly those willing to coordinate an event of such magnitude as the 4th of July Pops! Their thanks for such hard work come from the great appreciation and understanding of the general public. And again this year that support was clearly expressed.

The proposed Master Plan endorses the preservation of the present character of Princeton, and most of us who live here will applaud that purpose.

These two objectives are not reconcilable. The first requires high-density development with all the required new streets, sewers, schools, etc. to accommodate the increased population. The second requires that we do all we can to resist the continuing urbanization of our township.

Advocates of higher density cite the demand that exists for such units. Unfortunately, this demand can never be satisfied, even if we destroy all the rest of the town, because it is self-perpetuating. The more we permit, the more we will be asked to permit. When is enough enough?

Ever since the courts usurped the legislative power, developers have used the Mt. Laurel decision as a club to break down our zoning. They trade subsidized housing units for permission to increase density on their tracts. We have tried to mitigate the effect with cluster development which has been partly successful in providing a screen, but not in holding down population growth.

Our municipal officials have a primary obligation to the present citizens, not those who wish to move in, or to those who wish to profit from helping them do so. Each area that is torn up and paved over is gone forever. Let's preserve what is left of the Township and insist that there be no more downzoning. We are beleaguered on all sides by encroaching Megalopolis, but we should not cooperate in our own destruction!

"Right-Turn-Only" Lane Serves No Useful Purpose

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Now that Borough officials have taken action to eliminate the Nassau/Chestnut/Olden traffic signal, let us hope that they will turn their attention to eliminating another traffic impediment. I refer to the right-turn-only lane going south on Nassau toward Witherspoon.

A small fraction of the traffic, making the turn, benefits in a minor way from this arrangement. However, the net result is a pileup of cars in the left lane. I have seen this lane backed up all the way to Washington Road. At the same time the right has been almost empty — except for a car or two making the right turn and a few more using it to beat the traffic by illegally scooting straight ahead.

I hope that the argument will not be raised that two lanes cannot be allowed to converge into one past the intersection. That condition has been accepted in the opposite direction at the Washington Road intersection. For a short time there, the left lane was restricted to left turns only. Then common sense prevailed as I hope it will this time, too.

In the meantime, how about police enforcement of the posted regulation, "Right Lane Must Turn Right." At least then the good guys won't feel they always finish last.

Youth Cafe Is Grateful For Successful Season

To the Editor of Town Topics:

With greatest thanks to the Princeton Community, the Youth Cafe would like to call attention to all those who helped make the Cafe season 1988-89 a smooth-running and innovative one. We thank both the Borough and the Township for declaring April "Spring for Youth" month, a gesture which recognizes and supports the Cafe's efforts to establish a downtown center for youth; with the help of the middle school, over $1,000 in funds have already been raised for the project.

We thank the public library, Borough Council, Arts Council, Princeton Regional School Board, Youth Concerns Committee of the Council of Community Services, and the Princeton Youth Fund for their respective financial and organizational support. We also thank the Borough and Township police for their continual efforts to ensure the safety of all Cafe patrons.

This year, the Cafe featured an onslaught of talented new bands from the area high schools. Our new experiment in cultural entertainment, "Spanish Nite," was a real community venture, involving parents, teachers, clubs, and students.

For such past successes, and for the prospect of future ones, the entire Cafe staff extends its gratitude and enthusiasm.

Enforcement Is Needed Of Posted Weight Limits

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The recent articles in TOWN TOPICS on weight limits for local streets and bridges were very interesting but they do raise questions. I believe many readers would appreciate a sequel to these articles which would cover some of these questions, such as:

What does a five-ton limit on a street really mean?

A small car (four-cylinder Honda) has a "curb weight" of well over one ton. The "gross vehicle weight rating" of this small car is about 3500 pounds — almost two tons.

The very large trucks seen daily on such local streets as Harrison (with a five-ton limit) certainly weigh many times that of a Honda! Does the weight limit refer to something other than loaded weight? How are these posted weight limits controlled and enforced?

In view of the deterioration of Princeton streets over the past decade and the costly major repairs and resurfacing now taking place, I believe that a sequel to your recent articles would be very timely.

Low Consumption Toilets Helping to Save Water

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the recently published Delaware River Basin Commission (D.R.B.C.) Annual Report for 1988 there is an article on water conservation in which it is recommended that the average flow for "water closets ... shall not exceed an average of three and one-half gallons of water per flush" Furthermore, it is recommended that the Commission require "1.6 gallon-per-flush water closets in the basin as of Jan. 1, 1991."

This is only for new construction, but is quite a reduction from the "some 20 years ago [when] nearly all water closets were designed to flush on five to seven gallons."

Water closets have in the past been so unmentionable that they were reduced in a whisper to only W.C.s., or some hushed euphemism. My maternal grandparents even went so far as to insert a mysterious "Elliot" into their son's name so that he became W. Elliot C. D., so that he wouldn't be nicknamed W. C. by disrespectful schoolmates. On the other hand, my paternal grandparents went ahead and named my father Alan W. C. M., clearly a step toward progress! Today it has become imperative to publicly discuss W.C.s and sewage.

The D.R.B.C. report says, "[The use of] low consumption toilets alone has resulted in a 45 percent reduction in water use." Obviously this has a very definite connection with sewage disposal, "in some cases, delaying the need to build costly new plants." Thus, we see that in the Princeton area it may be all right to replace worn out equipment at the sewage plant, but that, as high tech water closets become prevalent, any expansion of the plant may be highly questionable.

Princeton Pike, Lawrenceville, was fined $785 for driving while his license was suspended. Louis Schuckman, P.O. Box 85, Princeton, paid $70 for speeding.

Four Houses Are Planned On Former Marcos Land

The new owner of the former Ferdinand Marcos estate on Princeton Pike in Lawrence wants to build four houses on the property, as well as three new roads leading from the houses to Princeton Pike.

The three roads were rejected by the Lawrence Planning Board during its first meeting on the new subdivision. Instead, Lawrence Township planner Carl Hintz recommended the houses be built on a cul-de-sac, so they could all be reached from one road onto Princeton Pike.

Developer Biaggio Scotto, a principal of Futuro Enterprises of Florham Park, said his company wants to "sell off" the existing 18th-century house and about three surrounding acres "to someone who wants to restore it." The remaining ten acres would be subdivided for the new homes, he said.

Tentative plans call for an August 30 Planning Board workshop on the proposed project.

The estate, at 3850 Princeton Pike, is the former property of deposed Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos. His daughter Imee lived in it while she attended Princeton University in the 1970's.

After President Marcos was deposed, about $100,000 worth of furnishings and art were found to be missing. Several weeks earlier, Mercer County Superior Court Judge Paul G. Levy had ruled that it, and nearly a half million dollars in cash, were the property of the Philippine government.

The items were discovered to be missing shortly after the property was set to be turned over to Philippine president Corason Aquino. At that time, a Mercer County Sheriff's officer discovered a rear door to the house open and a man carrying garbage bags from the garage. The man was identified as a close associate of the deposed Philippine president. The items have never been returned.

Jersey Development Corp. bought the property from the Aquino government in 1987 for $1 million. In February of this year, the company sold it to Futuro Enterprises.

Area Families Needed For Student Exchange

The International Education Forum, a nonprofit student exchange company, is in its final search for volunteer, community families. I.E.F. is looking for caring families to act as hosts for its students arriving on August 19. Students from more than 20 different countries will be here for three-, five- and ten-month home stays. They will attend area schools and become part of the American family. They come fully insured and with their own spending money.

I.E.F. offers substantial discounts to all students of the host family who would like to go to Europe on a month-long home stay program. These discounts are good for a three-year period and they can be accumulated for savings up to 40 percent.

For further information, call the I.E.F. Northeast office at 1-800-356-8818.

Government of Turkey Gives Grant to Princeton

Princeton University has been awarded a $750,000 challenge grant from the government of Turkey to endow the Mustafa Kemal Atatürk Professorship in Modern Turkish and Late Ottoman Studies, in the Department of Near Eastern Studies.

In announcing the Turkish Government's decision, Daryal Batibay, charge d'affaires of the Turkish Embassy in Washington, D.C., said, "It is our hope that the Atatürk chair will further enhance Princeton University's reputation as a training center for American Turcologists."

The Turkish government will provide an initial contribution of $200,000, which the University must match by June 30, 1990. At that time the Turkish government will make a further contribution of $550,000. The University must match this amount by December 31, 1991.

Since the mid-1940s, Princeton has become a major academic center in the United States for research and academic training in Turkish language, literature, culture and history, and has trained a generation of scholars who now teach Turkish and Ottoman studies at universities throughout the world.

Families Are the Focus Of PMC Maternity Care

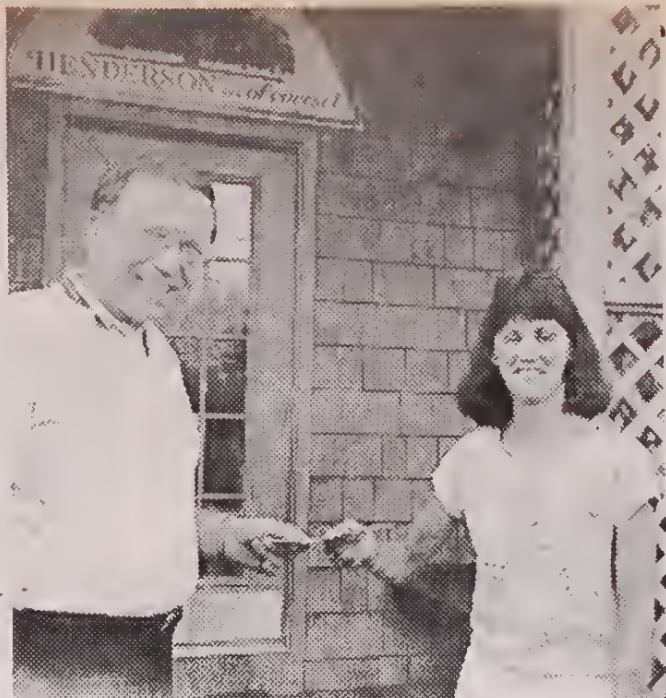

Maternity care used to mean the physical well-being of the new baby and mother. Today the entire family, including grandparents, siblings and other support people, are cared for as a unit at Princeton Medical Center.

Newborns are no longer isolated by glass walls from the hugs and kisses of the entire family. Siblings and grandparents are no longer outsiders observing the arrival of this new family member but are active participants.

To prepare families for the changes that a baby brings to the family, the Medical Center offers classes under the title "Pathways through Parenthood." Topics in these classes include labor, delivery, newborn care, breast feeding and exercise.

As families have become more aware of the information available in preparing for a baby, the demand for additional classes has grown. Today the "Pathways through Parenthood" curriculum includes pre-natal perspectives, grandparenting and preparation for adoption.

"Pre-natal Perspectives" offers couples planning a baby or newly pregnant couples an opportunity to tour the maternity

Amoebas, Aquatic Life On Exhibit at Center

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association invites adults and children to learn about amoebas and aquatic life at its Buttinger Environmental Awareness Center.

The Watershed Association is reserving this Saturday as "Meet an Amoeba" Day. With the help of a microscope and a video monitor, visitors can watch an amoeba at work, feeding and dividing, as well as see the cyclops, the water flea and other aquatic creatures. The Buttinger Center and its many exhibits are open to the public Wednesday through Saturday from 10 to 5.

On Wednesday, July 26, from 10 to 2, children from age 8 to 14 are invited to explore sites along the brook on the Watershed reserve for fish. Using seines and nets, the children will see a variety of fish and learn about their lifestyles and feeding habits. Some of the fish they may see are darters, pumpkin seeds, dace, pickerel and shiners.

The fee is $12 for members and $18 for non-members. Pre-registration is required. For information call 737-7592.

Openings Are Available In Presbyterian Nursery

The Presbyterian Cooperative Nursery School has limited openings available in the class for younger three-year-olds for the 1989-1990 school year.

We believe that academic excellence later in life is largely due to an enthusiasm for learning inspired during the early years when a child's motivation is high and his/her chances for success are good. Students in our program in no way leave childhood behind for the sole purpose of intellectual growth. Rather, they celebrate the special gifts of their age: curiosity, flexibility, spontaneity, will, and wonder.

INSTITUTE'S PROPOSED ALTERNATIVE: This concept plan shows the way the Institute for Advanced Study would prefer to have its property designated in the Master Plan. Institute objects to transfer of development rights (TDR) close to the present campus (upper right) as proposed in the draft Master Plan and proposes instead that a cluster development be allowed in the central open area. This land is not presently designated for sewer service, and the Institute would be asking for it to be included in the Township's sewer service plans. The Planning Board is also looking at the site for possible future school use.

units per acre — the lowest in the Township — for a wide area encompassing the Institute woods and adjacent farmland in return for a transfer of development rights which would allow the Institute a cluster development close to its existing campus. Saying it has no development plans but wants to preserve the value of its property, the Institute objected to this designation.

Marvin L. Goldberger, Institute director, wrote Mrs. Penick saying, "If and when the Institute ever needs to realize the value of this asset through development, the [Planning] Board's proposed plan... would force the Institute to construct homes throughout the entirety of these lands in a conventional grid pattern.... The result would be a destruction of the very open space goals which you — and the Institute — wish to foster."

Meeting in October, Mrs. Penick says that the master plan subcommittee would be reconstituted in September to discuss the Institute's counter proposal and come up with a recommendation to the full board. A public hearing would be held in October on this issue and others that are expected to be held over until fall. Printing of the accepted Master Plan would be delayed until after the October hearing, she said.

Another issue expected to be deferred until fall is whether or not to change the B-1 zone along lower Witherspoon Street to residential in an effort to preserve the remaining homes on the street as residential. Housing advocates are recommending this change, which is not contained in the draft Master Plan, while residents oppose it on the grounds that the change would lower the value of their property. Robert Sinkler, a longtime Witherspoon Street resident, spoke to this issue at last week's hearing and presented a petition on behalf of the 10 or 15 residents.

Mrs. Penick said she also expected the issue of whether or not to create a new community service district encompassing the YM-YWCA property, Merwick and Dorothea House would be postponed for later study. At last week's hearing, the Planning Board agreed to remove a future school designation from the Van Dyke-Wight property on Snowden Lane but to keep the recreation designation for this tract.

The Board of Education has asked that two future school sites be designated in the Master Plan. One site, to which no objection has been raised thus far, is the Winant property off The Great Road. The other was to have been the Van Dyke-Wight property. Last Thursday, the board discussed the possibility of requiring the Institute to set aside acreage for a school should it decide to develop a residential cluster. That issue, too, will be discussed in the fall.

More Affordable Housing. John Kelsey, chairman of the Township Housing Board, made a strong pitch last week for the designation of additional affordable housing sites (see related article) to meet the Township's affordable housing quota to 1995 and beyond. Housing advocates, from the League of Women Voters to Princeton Community Housing, have criticized the Master Plan for not being more specific in its recommendations for maintaining a heterogeneous community and for placing too much emphasis on open space preservation at the expense of housing.

There was discussion last week about the possibility of requiring every new housing development of 20 units or more — Mrs. Penick suggested 10 units or more — to have a percentage of low- and moderate-income housing — perhaps 20 percent. This requirement would be in addition to the already designated sites, a list of which, with acreage and number of affordable units, is to be added to the draft Master Plan.

Mrs. Penick says this too would have to be studied and then aired at a public hearing before becoming a part of the community Master Plan. She said the Master Plan subcommittee spent time in its one meeting last week drafting language to be included in the Master Plan on the issue of priorities. "To say that affordable housing is the number one priority we don't feel is appropriate. There are a number of priorities, and it will depend on what opportunities come along, and what the economy is like, in the nation and in the community, as to how a particular opportunity is used."

Mrs. Penick listed the community goals as open space, affordable housing and historic preservation. At last week's hearing Planning Board member Joseph O'Neill asked the board's attorney, Allen Porter, to clarify what the legal implications are of designating a particular site, for instance, for a school.

Mr. Porter explained that the purpose is to provide notice, to give the town the opportunity to acquire the land, and to coordinate the acquisition with development activity. He pointed out that the school board, like the municipality, has power of eminent domain and could ac-

Fireworks Finally Fire

The aahs at the fireworks display at Community Park Friday night may have stemmed as much from the fact that the display finally came off as for the fireworks themselves.

The crowd was estimated at 2,500 to 3,000 by Township Lt. Anthony Gaylord — smaller than the traditional July 4th crowds in past years. As it was, Lt. Gaylord commented, "That's the most that could be held at that site — traffic-wise and parking-wise." No incidents, no injuries were reported.

The thrice-postponed fireworks had generated some heat from frustrated ticketholders but most of those who finally saw the display agreed that it was worth the wait.

quire a site by condemnation without master plan designation if it needs to.

The purpose of master plan designation comes into play at the time an application is made for development of the site, Mr. Porter continued. "If a development came in for application it would have to reflect the designation, and at final approval the town would have one year to acquire that property."

The town would have to negotiate a price with the landowner, just as in any land transaction, Mr. Porter said, adding, "The only way to preserve it is to buy it." It was pointed out that the Township's acquisition of the Mountain Lakes Reserve came about in this manner, and that the cost was inflated several times over that paid by the developer by the "soft costs" he had incurred in making the development application as well as the profits that could be expected from the development.

Hans Sander then suggested a better way would be for the Township to acquire tracts before they come up for development and hold them until they are needed. "I don't know how the tax payer will be able to pay for it," Marvin Reed responded, noting that there is no money in the Borough budget for land acquisition. "It's a political decision," Mr. Sander replied, "which may lead to a referendum."

"You're talking about land banking," Kate Litvack remarked. "That definitely should be a matter for a referendum."

Central Business District. At last week's hearing, former Township Committeeman William Cherry raised the issue of parking and the viability of the Central Business District, a topic that receives comparatively little attention in the draft community Master Plan. Alan Frank of the Princeton Coalition told the board that his group's recommendations about the Central Business District are expected to be ready in mid-August.

Gillian Godfrey, director of the Suzanne Patterson Center for senior citizens, told the board that seniors are "distressed by the disappearance of the downtown area. They fear the library might move, and there is a real need for affordable housing within walking distance of town." Mrs. Godfrey said seniors need better transportation and more "life-supporting shops," two concerns that were echoed by Marjorie Blaxill, president of the Senior Resource Center board.

Mrs. Blaxill also pointed out that there is no longer an adult day care center in Princeton, now that PACE (Princeton Activities Center for the Elderly), run by the Family Service Agency, has moved to St. Paul's Lutheran church in East Windsor. She also said that Princeton needs what she called "a middle ground" between institutional nursing care and the independent but isolated existence many seniors experience in an apartment or longtime home which is too big to keep up.

Mrs. Blaxill suggested that group homes for eight to 10 people with a care giver for "middle income, doing pretty well, frail elderly" are lacking in Princeton. She also spoke of the need for accessible bathrooms in the downtown area, along with benches and traffic lights that are timed with the senior citizen in mind.

Mrs. Penick says that the Central Business District is a "very big issue," too big to be included in the topics already planned for carryover into the fall. "We'll probably get to that a year from now," she said.

Housing Program

ticularly hard hit by the soft real estate market, and Princeton Community Housing has dropped the prices on the two-bedroom and three-bedroom townhouse units to what Robert Cawley of PCH says are the lowest in the area. Sales of 140 market rate units were intended to subsidize the sales and rental of 140 affordable units in a development unique in the State for this 50/50 ratio.

Most affordable housing projects are built by conventional for-profit developers at a ratio of one affordable unit to four market rate units. At the time the Township adopted its affordable housing program there was concern that creating four market units for every one affordable unit would take up a great deal of land area and that it would result in more housing than the community could readily absorb.

In contrast to the for-profit developers, Princeton Community Housing is a nonprofit community housing organization with considerable experience in getting lower cost housing built with federal funds and then managing it.

On July 10, Township Committee approved a resolution requested by PCH increasing the amount of the Township's guarantee of PCH's construction loan from area banks from $13 million to $16 million. At the time, Township Attorney Edwin R. Schmierer explained that construction at Griggs Farm was ahead of schedule but that due to factors beyond its control, the project had fallen behind in being able to obtain certificates of occupancy and close on the units.

Income Comes at Closing. Except for modest down payments, the real income to offset construction costs is realized at the time of closing. PCH fully expected that the first market townhouses would be occupied in the spring of 1989.

As factors beyond PCH control, Mr. Schmierer cited the time it has taken to build the new sewer line to the site and to develop a new entrance after the Department of Transportation imposed conditions on the opening onto Route 206 that the Township felt were unacceptable. Asking for an increase in the loan guarantee "is a prudent adjustment in the event it is needed," he told Committee.

Mr. Cawley says that revenue from the State grant, amounting to some $1.3 million, is also down, because this mon-

Trash Pick-Up Bid Rejected

Borough Council late Tuesday afternoon voted to reject the one bid received for the collection, removal, and disposal of municipal solid waste. The sole bidder was Interstate Waste Removal Co., Inc., of Trenton.

Interstate's cost would have been $51,922 a month from August 1 to December 31, 1989; $56,906 a month during 1990; and $62,387 a month during 1991. The Borough had budgeted $40,000 a month for this service for the remainder of 1989, which is almost $12,000 a month less than the price bid.

The Borough is currently paying about $30,000 a month for garbage pickup, a price Borough Engineer Carl Peters called "artificially low because it doesn't figure in full past increases in tipping fees."

A second bidder, National Waste Disposal, arrived 15 minutes after the time set for opening. National Waste is the Borough's current carter.

Mr. Peters recommended rejection of the Interstate bid and immediate re-advertising for new bids. Because the winning bid in this second round could not be awarded until July 31 — and the current contract expires August 1 — the Borough may have to negotiate with National Waste to continue services for a period not to exceed one month. However, if National Waste bids again, and is successful, the need for this would be eliminated.

ment of Community Affairs delayed giving its approval to the apartment buildings and as a result construction is behind on the three-story buildings which will house the majority of the affordable units. Moreover, having lowered the prices on its townhouse units to attract buyers, PCH will have to raise them again at some point to generate the profits it needs to complete the project.

"The bottom line is not looking too good," Mr. Cawley acknowledged. "But we're hopeful that in the fall the active real estate market will assert itself and that the lowering of interest rates will also stimulate sales."

$1,450,000 Shortfall. Mr. Kelsey also sounded a warning note to the Planning Board when he said that this year, the Housing Board had estimated and budgeted for $1.5 million worth of contributions from developers but will end the year with exactly $50,000. He said this sum doesn't cover the Housing Board's administrative expenses.

The two developers who are expected to contribute $2.6 million total to the Township's housing fund are Sanford Nalitt, developer of Ettl Farm, and the Hillier Group/Design Interface, developer of the Princeton Day School/Cadle tract. These payments are also tied to phases in the development process.

Mr. Nalitt has not received all the approvals he needs to begin construction on phase one of Ettl Farm, and the Hillier Group needs approval of the Township's revised Water Quality Management Plan for sewer service to the tract.

Mr. Kelsey told the Planning Board that the implementation of the housing element "seems to hang substantially on the rehabilitation of substandard units," which would be paid for by the developers' contributions. He reported on four meetings with the residents of the Witherspoon/Leigh Avenue neighborhood to gain a consensus on what needs to be done to strengthen the area.

He said the first priority, as stated by the neighbors, was to enforce the housing codes for safety and health. Neighbors were particularly concerned about the number of people living in some buildings. Next, the neighbors wanted to see enforcement of the traffic laws to control speeding and improvement in the parking situation.

Rezoning B-1 District. Although there is not unanimity on this issue, Mr. Kelsey remarked, they also want the B-1 (business) district rezoned to R-6 (residential) so that there would be no future encroachment of commercial use buildings that reduce the existing housing stock.

Residents also liked the idea of deferred payment improvement loans for lower income homeowners. The Housing Board can implement such a program to bring homes up to safety and health codes, but Mr. Kelsey estimates that a maximum of only 20 units could be rehabilitated under this program. "But even doing that takes money," he said.

The lowest priority was the acquisition and rehabilitation of existing substandard housing for sale or rental. "For the program to work, the neighborhood must be actively involved, or it will put us in the business of owning properties and require a new and expensive bureaucracy," Mr. Kelsey noted. He also said that acquisition and rehabilitation is expensive to implement — $40,000 to $70,000 per unit — and will not generate a large number of units.

At the outset of his remarks, Mr. Kelsey said that the Housing Board supports the goals of the housing element "despite the fact that the strategies listed underneath each goal are in some cases repetitive, and in others contradictory and often vague." He concluded by saying that the Housing Board and its staff (Susan Repko, housing manager, and Martha Lamar, housing consultant) want to work with the Planning Board to develop a revised housing element for the Master Plan.

No mystery. No ceremony.
But a lot of deeply Christian thinking to apply in your daily life.

There are thoughtful hymns. The Lord's Prayer. Then, a different Lesson-Sermon every week, full of interesting ideas from the Bible and from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy.

And through it all, a concept of Love, divine Love, the way Christ Jesus lived it, that relates you to God in a new and revitalizing way.

If you think you'd enjoy the freshness of it, we'd love to have you come. This or any Sunday.

Squibb and Universities Plan Research Facilities

Squibb Corporation and Oxford University officials have laid the cornerstone for a state-of-the-art neuroscience research facility that will be constructed for Oxford University's Department of Pharmacology, in Oxford, England.

In October 1987, Squibb and Oxford University announced a long-term neuroscience research agreement, focusing on five specific areas of neuroscience: degenerative diseases of the central nervous system (CNS), epilepsy, psychoses, CNS control of blood pressure and peripheral autonomic nervous system control.

Under the agreement, Oxford will provide Squibb, which will fund the project, with access to certain discoveries of the Department of Pharmacology in these and related areas of neuroscience.

Squibb Corporation and the University Louis Pasteur in Strasbourg, France, have announced a long-term research program in molecular genetics to be directed by world-renowned molecular biologist, Professor Pierre Chambon.

The agreement provides that Squibb will build a research facility — the Center for the Study of Cellular and Molecular Biology and Genetics — and will support a variety of research projects. Squibb will have access to certain discoveries of the Center related to such research projects and also has certain patent and licensing rights for such discoveries.

At ceremonies commemorating the agreement in Strasbourg, Richard M. Furlaud, chairman and chief executive officer of Squibb, said the joint initiative symbolizes Squibb's commitment to expanding its areas of research into new fields and also addresses a critical social need.

"Today there is no foreseeable way of preventing or curing certain diseases that afflict mankind — AIDS, Alzheimer's and cancer to name a few — except by a better understanding of their basic mechanisms."

Shaw's "Candida" — Now Playing at Murray Theatre — Remains as Up to Date as the Latest Broadway Comedy

WHO'S IN CHARGE HERE? George Bernard Shaw's "Candida" leaves no doubt about who is really running the show, in an evening of sparkling, witty dialogue at Murray-Dodge Theatre.

Candida is one of George Bernard Shaw's most popular comedies, and it provides one of the greatest female stage roles of the past century. It is being staged by the Princeton Rep Company for the next two weekends at Murray Theatre on the Princeton University campus.

The protagonist, and focus of the play's conflict, is Candida, wife of a successful Christian Socialist clergyman. The setting is the drawing room of a London parsonage in 1894. The action, as in many of Shaw's dramas, is almost entirely verbal, but, as 40-year-old Parson Morell suddenly finds that his charming wife is the object of the affections of a determined, love-sick 18-year-old poet, the clever dialogue crackles with electricity.

As the youth, Eugene Marchbanks, confesses his passion and persists in his efforts to attain his beloved Candida, both Shaw and Candida are constantly shocking us and overturning our expectations. By the end we realize that Candida is, as Shaw described it, "a counterblast to Ibsen's A Doll's House, showing that in the real typical doll's house it is the man who is the doll." It is Candida, with her characteristic expression of "amused maternal indulgence" and her abundance of dignity, wisdom and wit, who rules this household and is never out of control of the situation.

The Princeton Rep Company production, however, despite a the devastating, ironic line ("How conventional all you unconventional people are!" for example) with just the right touch, and she is comfortable with the complexity and the sheer quantity of Shaw's language here.

Mr. Holofcener as Burgess, the elderly bourgeois man of business (a forerunner of the character of Alfred Doolittle in Pygmalion), creates a highly amusing example of a larger-than-life Shaw character, and provides a wry, satiric perspective on the lives and concerns of the other characters of the play.

vibrant, strong and appealing Candida in Carol Kehoe and some solid, intelligent support from veterans Lawrence Holofcener as Candida's father and Catherine Allgor as Morell's secretary, founders in its presentation of the central conflict between Morell and Marchbanks. The two male protagonists, presumably created by Shaw as contrasting types in order to heighten the conflict and increase the humor and surprise of their heated rivalry, seem miscast in their similarity here.

Robert Ford, as the supposedly "vigorous, genial, robust, pleasant, hearty, considerate, unaffected, sensible" middle-aged parson and David Yezzi, as the supposedly "strange, shy, slight, effeminate, childish, timid, frail," adolescent poet appear to be close in age, and Mr. Yezzi (Marchbanks) is significantly bigger physically than Mr. Ford (Morell). Yes, these are both experienced actors, and their understanding of the roles helps them to bring across some fine comic moments, but these are two Shavian characters who need to be larger — and more extreme — than life, and we need to believe in them as such. On opening night some of Shaw's best moments were flatter than they should have been, neither surprising enough nor funny enough.

Ms. Kehoe as Candida, "a woman who has found that she can always manage people by engaging their affection, and who does so frankly and instinctively without the smallest scruple," knows how to deliver OPENING THURSDAY: From left are Robin Tate, Kevin Chamberlin and William Richert in a scene from James McLure's "Private Wars," about three Vietnam veterans in a veterans' hospital. The play opens Thursday and runs through July 30.

Ms. Allgor also has a firm grasp on her character, the devoted typist Proserpine Garnett, and the perfect tone and timing for the sharp barb and the infuriating retort. Laurence Drozd completes the cast as Lexy, the comical young curate from Oxford University, who emulates Morell's every habit and spars wittily with Proserpine.

The one-room set, in place for all three acts, is functional, though somewhat flatly symmetrical, in a realistic mode. B.J. Whiting, Princeton Rep's summer 1989 visiting artist, has directed the production with energy and fluidity.

On the occasion of a 1937 production of Candida, Shaw maintained, "I have no fear of its proving out of date. A play that will not last 40 years and be all the better for it is not worth writing." Fifty-two more years have passed and Candida remains as up to date as the latest Broadway comedy. The Princeton Rep Company production will play at Murray Theatre on Thursdays through Sundays at 8 p.m. through July 30. Call 452-4950 for reservations and further information.

"Private Wars" to Play At McCarter Theatre

Last Easter Sunday, three members of McCarter Theatre's Resident Company, along with Artistic Director Nagle Jackson and playwright James McLure, left Princeton for a two-week engagement of Mr. McLure's Private Wars in Oslo, Norway. This endeavor marked the first exchange between the theater and a European company in McCarter's history.

Princeton-area audiences may see this production with the original cast at McCarter Theatre. Opening night is this Thursday, and the production will run through Sunday, July 30.

Private Wars is set in a veterans' hospital where three G. I.'s, Silvio, Gately and Natwick, while away their time. Each repeatedly states that he is free to leave the hospital whenever he chooses, but we soon learn that they are not as well as they may appear.

Kevin Chamberlin portrays Gately, a gentle soul compulsively repairing a disembowelled radio. Mr. Chamberlin was a member of the 88-89 McCarter Theatre resident acting company, appearing in Sarcophagus, A Christmas Carol, Tartuffe, and Born Yesterday.

Robin Tate plays Silvio, a street-wise tough who is addicted to "flashing." Mr. Tate, a member of the 88-89 resident acting company, appeared in Sarcophagus, Tartuffe and A Christmas Carol. Originally from Stockbridge, Mass., he made his professional debut at the age of 16 in the Arthur Penn film Alice's Restaurant. After attending Catholic University in Washington, D. C., Mr. Tate settled in New York, where he through Thursday, July 25 to 27 will feature Louis Malle's Au Revoir, Les Enfants, joined by a perennial favorite of Summer Cinema audiences, Night of the Shooting Stars, by the Taviani brothers.

Au Revoir, Les Enfants is a loosely autobiographical film based on the director's childhood experiences during the German occupation of France in 1944. It's also about growing up, class privilege, betrayal, guilt, and the compulsive need to find meaning. Malle's film tells the story of emerging friendship between a Catholic in a boarding school and one of three Jewish boys being hidden by the priests during World War II. In the course of Au Revoir, he covers a wide range of themes, including the dangers of intellectual vanity and heroisms and moral corruptions of the Occupation.

The Night of the Shooting Stars, is set in a Tuscan village and its environs during a summer week in 1944, when the American troops were only days away and the Germans were preparing to clear out.

The Taviani Brothers' film is a series of vignettes and anecdotes filtered through the memory of a woman who was 6 at the time, and who is now telling the story to her daughter. Comedy, tragedy, vaudeville and melodrama are all present and inseparable, as atrocities appear side by side with magical visions.

performances for children on Thursdays from 1 to 1:45 in July and August. The performances are all given by area performing groups.

This week's performance is by Jonathan Sprout, a musician who will sing a medley of original pop songs about experiences particular to children. Positive thinking and self-confidence are encouraged in his collection of "silly and inspiring songs for kids of all ages."

On Thursday, July 27, Duet Productions will perform Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. An actor and an actress play all the different characters, and the story is told from the dwarfs' point of view. Their opinion is that big people are nothing but trouble.

Dave Orleans will present "Earthsoogs: The New Jersey Pinelands" on Thursday, August 3, and again on Thursday, August 31. Mr. Orleans sings songs and tells tales about ghosts and ghost towns, stagecoaches and bandits, cranberries and blueberries, and even the Jersey Devil, to broaden the audience's understanding of the "not-so-barren" pinelands.

Also on this series will be "Kids on the Block," a program sponsored by the New Jersey Department of Human Services which seeks to encourage a better understanding among children about their peers who "suffer" from a variety of disabilities. On Thursday, August 24, Creative Theatre will present Walker Magic and the Illusion Show, "The Magic of Physics."

Fluorescent Puppets Shine

The Famous People Players will be at McCarter Theatre for two performances on Tuesday at 10:30 and 7:30. Ticket prices are $7, $10 and $12. For tickets call the McCarter Theatre box office at 683-8000, Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Thirteen invisible puppets create the colorful theatrical antics the Famous People Players are known for. Clad entirely in black, these artists manipulate life-size puppets and props covered with fluorescent paint. Under the ultraviolet glow of black light, the puppets come to life, while the operators remain unseen.

What makes this company exceptional is that 10 of the 13 performers are developmentally handicapped adults who have made an international name for themselves with their productions.

Westminster Choir College will present the final week of its summer music series July 23 through 27 in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster Choir College campus. The public is invited to attend at no charge. Two highlights of the week will be recitals by pianist Fei-Ping Hsu of the People's Republic of China and by duo-pianists Phyllis A. Lehrer and Ena B. Barton.

On Sunday at 4, Westminster student Kim Jones will present her senior voice recital. At 8:30 p.m., Mr. Hsu will perform. Born in the People's Republic of China, he came to the United States in 1979 and studied at the Juilliard School and the Eastman School of Music. He has performed as soloist with the Shanghai Symphony Orchestra in China and made his New York debut in 1984 at Alice Tully Hall. In 1983 he received the gold medal at the fourth annual Arthur Rubinstein International Piano Competition in Israel and first prize in the Gina Bachauer Memorial Scholarship Competition.

On Monday, duo-pianists, Lehrer and Barton will perform at 7. During their association they have received awards both as a duo and as soloists. In 1987 both artists were presented by Artists' International on the Distinguished Artist Winners' Series. Also on Monday, Alice Parker will lead the weekly Hymn Sing at 8:30 p.m.

Tuesday at 6:30 p.m., Kedron Miller, haritone, and Cynthia Jay, soprano, will perform works by Mendelssohn, Faure, Weistall, and Nin-Culmell. Mr. Miller and Ms. Jay, both graduate students at Westminster, will be accompanied by Kathy Shanklin and Terrance Niska. At 8 p.m. Jon Bailey, chairman and professor of music at Pomona College in Claremont, Calif. will conduct a reading of Brahms' Requiem in the weekly Summer Sing.

Gary Gavula, baritone, and Stephen Peet, pianist, will present a recital Wednesday, July 26 at 7 that will include the Chansons Goillards of Francis Poulenc. At 8:30 p.m. Alice Parker will lead the weekly Hymn Sing.

Thursday, July 27 at 8:30 p.m. a chamber music recital will be held in the Fisk Room of Bristol Chapel. John Burkhalter, a performer active in the Princeton area, will play Baroque recorder. He will be accompanied on harpsichord and organ by Gavin Black, a faculty member of the Westminster Conservatory of Music. For more information, call the concerts office at 921-2663.

Ridge String Quartet Set for Chamber Concert

Princeton University Summer Chamber Concerts will present the Ridge String Quartet in the main courtyard of the Graduate College on Wednesday, July 26, at 8. The public is invited to attend without charge. In case of inclement weather, the concert will be held indoors at Richardson Auditorium.

First prize winner of both the Coleman and Fischhoff chamber music competitions, the Ridge was the youngest quartet ever presented in recital at Carnegie Hall. The Quartet was founded in 1982, having studied at the San Francisco Conservatory and the Curtis Institute of Music.

The Ridge made its New York debut in 1983 and began touring in 1983-84. It has since performed extensively throughout the United States and abroad. The Quartet in Residence at the Spoleto Festival in Charleston, S.C., in 1985, the Ridge was re-engaged for 1986 and invited to the Spoleto Festival in Italy for the next two summers.

The members of the Ridge String Quartet — Krista Bennion Feeney and Robert Rinehart, violins, Maria Lambras, viola, and Peter Wyrick, cello — are former Marlboro Music Festival and New York String Orchestra participants. The Ridge takes its name from the Ridge vineyards, a California winery which the Bennion family helped to found.

The July 26 program will include Beethoven's Quartet in G Major, Opus 18, No. 2, Webern's Langsamer Satz and Sechs Bagatelles, and Smetana's Quartet No. 1 in E Minor (In My Life).

If the weather is threatening, the location of the concert may be determined by calling 452-5977 for a recorded message after 4 p.m. on the day of the performance.

The concert will begin at 7 p.m. on the Rider College Student Center patio. It is free, and the public is invited to bring lawn chairs and blankets. In case of rain, the event will be moved to the Fine Arts Theatre.

Ms. O'Sullivan and Mr. Breitman will perform Twelve Variations on a Theme and Sonata in F Major, both by Beethoven. Mr. Breitman will also perform Mozart's Sonata in A Minor.

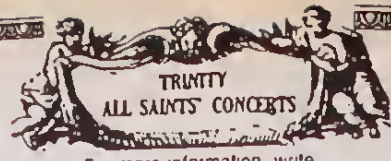

Ms. O'Sullivan received a bachelor of music degree from Manhattan School of Music and a master of music degree from Hartt College of Music. She is the cellist of Aston Magna, the Classical Quartet and the Bremner Quartet. She also performs with the Smithsonian Chamber Orchestra. Mostly Mozart, the Ensemble for Early Music and the Mozartean Players.

Mr. Breitman enjoys a career as a piano soloist and collaborative artist. Recent performances include recitals with baritone Sanford Sylvan in Washington, D.C. and Boston, and cellist Kim Scholes in Dallas, Houston and Oklahoma City. He also made a guest appearance with the New England Camerata in Brattleboro.

Jazz Trumpeter to Play On Stage at McCarter

The explosive energy of trumpeter Freddie Hubbard will fill the McCarter Theatre stage on Monday at 8 p.m.

Mr. Hubbard began his musical studies in junior high school on a tonette, then moved on to E-flat horn, trombone, tuba, French horn, and finally trumpet. Although times got tough for the family, he recalls, "I was kind of spoiled because, no matter what, my mother always made sure that I had a trumpet."

Offered a French horn scholarship to Indiana Central College, Mr. Hubbard turned it down to attend Jordan College in Cedar Springs, Mich. He concentrated on the trumpet, but not in the way the school had in mind, and he was bounced out for playing too much jazz. "I was fortunate to get out of there," he says now, noting that he was then free to hone his talents with such greats as Buddy Rich, Monk Montgomery and Larry Ridley.

Miles Davis, who heard the young trumpeter at a club in New York, was impressed and helped Mr. Hubbard to land a contract with Blue Note Records, for which he recorded as a soloist and as a sideman with Herbie Hancock, Dexter Gordon, Bobby Hutcherson, Art Blakey and others.

Early in his career, Mr. Hubbard appeared on two releases that are generally regarded as turning points in jazz — John Coltrane's Ascension and Ornette Coleman's Free Jazz. In the early '70s he recorded Red Clay for CTA Records and attained superstar status.

Ticket prices are $14, $15, $16, $17 and $22. To order tickets call the McCarter Theatre box office at 683-8000, Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will give a free concert Sunday at 7 in Cadwalader Park, Trenton.

Michael Pratt, associate conductor of the NJSO, will conduct a program of music by Tchaikovsky, Ravel, Offenbach and Gershwin in celebration of the 200th anniversary of the French Revolution. Mr. Pratt, a Princeton area resident, is conductor of the Princeton University Orchestra and founder and music director of the June Opera Festival of New Jersey.

Families and friends are encouraged to bring blankets and chairs and to picnic on the park grounds. Clowns, mimes and a magician will entertain the children before the concert. In the event of rain, the concert will be held in the War Memorial auditorium.

The concert is sponsored by the Arts-in-the-Park program of Ellarslie, the Trenton City Museum located in the park.

An All-Mozart Program At Rutgers SummerFest

An all-Mozart evening will be presented by New York's Jupiter Symphony with Jens Nygaard, conductor, on Saturday as part of Rutgers SummerFest.

Flutist James Scott will play Mozart's Andante for Flute in C. Also on the program will be La Finta Giardiniera Overture, Concerto in F Major for Two Pianos, and Symphony No. 29 in A. The 8 p.m. concert will take place in the air-conditioned Nicholas Music Center of Rutgers Arts Center, George Street at Route 18, New Brunswick.

The Jupiter Symphony completed its 10th season with five sellouts at Lincoln Center. Mr. Nygaard is a founder of the ensemble. Mr. Scott, who is acting dean of the Mason Gross School, also maintains an active performance schedule. He specializes in reviving neglected works from the past as well as performing works of living composers.

For information or to charge tickets by phone, call the Rutgers Arts Ticket Office, (201) 932-7511.

Outdoor Rock Concert By Children's Performer

The children's performer, Jonathan Sprout, will be featured in concert at the South Brunswick Summerfest '89 outdoor performance series on Friday.

Mr. Sprout plays rock music and has a repertoire of upbeat songs that he performs for children ages 5 to 14 and their families. He bops across the stage playing guitar as he backs himself up with his own pre-recorded tape and a synthesizer.

Mr. Sprout has been a professional performer for 15 years, specializing in concerts for children for the past eight years. He combines comedy, singing, audience participation, talk, and a bit of subtle advice into his show. He also sings original songs about experiences of concern to children: world peace, friendship, wearing braces, personal responsibility, and taking showers.

Performance time is 7 p.m.; the performance is about 45 minutes in duration. The concert is held at the outdoor amphitheater at Woodlot Park on West New Road in Kendall Park. Lawn chairs or blankets for seating, and picnics are welcome. In the event of rain, the program will be held inside the Community Center, also located in the same park complex.

For further information, call 201-297-4433 weekdays, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Brass Quintet is Set For Concert in Park

The Trenton Brass Quintet Plus One will present a free concert Saturday, at 7 at Mercer County Park, West Windsor.

The performance is part of the "Music in the Park" series presented by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission during July and August.

The concert will be held near the ice rink at Mercer County Park. There is no reserved seating. In the event of rain, the performance will be held inside the rink.

Memorial Events Set For Former Conductor

Westminster Choir College alumni will honor the memory of former faculty member and Westminster Choir conductor George Lynn with a series of events on Saturday. Dr. Lynn died May 16 in Colorado Springs, Co. The public is invited to attend.

"A Musical Celebration for George Lynn" will be held in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster Choir College campus. It will begin at 1 p.m. with a concert of Dr. Lynn's songs and organ works. The Westminster alumni taking part are Thomas Goeman; Lois Laverty, music director at All Saints' Episcopal Church; James McKeever, minister of music at Ewing Presbyterian Church; Wayne Richmond, Michael Stairs; and Jane Shaulis, a member of the New York City Opera. A reception will be held following the performance.

At 3 p.m. a choral reading session will be held, using music composed by Dr. Lynn as well as works he enjoyed conducting. Friends will also share their memories of working with him.

Born in 1915, Mr. Lynn began his music training at age 5 with organ and piano lessons. After receiving a bachelor's degree from Westminster Choir College he earned a master's degree from Princeton University and was awarded an honorary doctorate from Harding College. For many years he taught in all of the departments at Westminster Choir College. From 1964 to 1969 he served as music director, preparing the Westminster Symphonic Choir for performances with Bernstein, von Karajan, Stokowski and others.

Mr. Lynn published hundreds of compositions and arrangements. One of his most well known works for orchestra and chorus, The Gettysburg Address, was performed and recorded by the Philadelphia Orchestra and the American Symphony. Dr. Lynn guest-conducted the Denver Symphony in a performance of his composition Diversion for String Orchestra.

His widow, Lucile, will be in attendance at all the events.

Varied Program Planned By Waterloo Faculty

This week's chamber music concert by Waterloo Music School faculty artists will feature the Sonora Quartet as guest artists in a performance of David Diamond's String Quartet No. 3 (1974).

The concert will be held on Friday at 8 in Richardson Auditorium. The program will begin with five canons from The Musical Offering performed by Michael Parloff.

Theatres

Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays at 8:30 and Sundays at 7:30.

Corpse continues in the tradition of the thrillers Deathtrap and Sleuth, but adds a dose of comedy. Milo O'Shea starred when it originally opened in London and he repeated the role during the show's successful Broadway run.

Set in 1936 London on Abdication Eve, Corpse introduces us to Evelyn Farrant, the poor actor, and his twin brother Ruppert. Evelyn hires Major Powell, a bumbling soldier of fortune with a shady past, to kill his more fortunate brother in order to assume his identity. Evelyn's plans are disrupted by his flirtatious landlady, Mrs. McGee, and the inquisitive police constable Hawkins.

The cast features James Morgan in the dual role of Evelyn and Ruppert Farrant. Doug Freeburg recreates Milo O'Shea's role, Major Powell. Pat Hickson portrays Mrs. McGee and Thomas K. Freuler plays Constable Hawkins. The cast is under the direction of John F. Hickson Sr.

Tickets are $9 on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Sundays, $11 on Fridays and Saturdays. Discounts are available for students, seniors and groups at all performances except Saturdays. For reservations or further information call (201) 873-2170.

Theater Party Planned By River Road Ass'n

The River Road Association of Montgomery Township has

50 tickets for the play Grease for Saturday evening, September 30, at $15 each. Grease is part of the repertory of the Somerset Valley Players in Neshanic. speaks on DESKS
ARE DIFFERENT NOW.

When you say the word "desk", many people picture only the kind of desk you see in an office or school — but today there are many different types of desks — including "decorator" desks — that not only serve their function but also add attractive touches to a room.

Furniture manufacturers are now making a wider variety of desks than ever before. But, really, the best news is that many of these desks are designed so they actually improve the looks of a room. You might be surprised at the added interest the right desk can give to your decorating scheme, while giving you some added convenience at the same time.

There are now desks for every room in the home. There are desks which can be used in the bedroom or kitchen for household bookkeeping and letter writing. There are desks for the living room, study or den which can serve work-at-home needs — and everything in between.

There are desks with various kinds of tops, and desks that also include shelves in addition to drawers.

Aside from finding the right desks for the size and purpose you need, you'll also see desks that can bring new beauty to your home.

For all your furnishing needs we invite you to stop in.

MY-T-SHARP AND STILL MY-T-FINE: Members of the first-place My-T-Fine team in the new Princeton Recreation Summer Basketball League are all former Princeton High School players and their play at the Community Park Court reveals they haven't lost a step. In fact, they look sharper than ever. From left together scored more than 60 percent of the points for the 1987-88 PHS team; Rob Bosley, '86; and Dave Johnson, class of 1980.

SPORTS

New League Is Popular In Summer Basketball

There is a new sports league in Princeton this summer.

The Princeton Adult Summer Basketball League is comprised of four teams and it offers two games every Monday and Wednesday evening at 6:30 and 7:45 at the Community Park court.

"There's been a lot of community interest," agreed Doug Snyder, the Princeton High basketball coach, one of the two directors of the league along with Gil Fisher. "I'd say there were a couple of hundred people watching tonight. We're pleased with the response. It's been like a magnet for the community."

The players are mostly college players or former players. One team is comprised of the present Princeton High varsity squad. In the future, Snyder reported that an attempt will be made to try to establish a younger players league.

The new league is the brainchild of Ted Forst of the Princeton Recreation League who approached Snyder and Fisher with the idea of forming a summer basketball program. Snyder, who was searching for ways that his team members could gain more playing experience in the off season, jumped at the opportunity.

Presently on top in the standings is the My-T-Sharp team — comprised of former PHS players — which is undefeated in seven games. SES No. 1 is second with a 5-2 mark, and the Dillon Demons, coached by Jerome McGowan, and the PHS team are tied at 2-5 each. The league playoffs are scheduled to start August 7; the championship game will be played the 9th.

In games Monday, PHS edged the Dillon Demons, 46-45, and My-T-Sharp rolled over SES No. 1, 73-54.

Anthony White and Marvin Pard were high scorers for PHS with 14 each while Jimmy Craig led the Demons with 10. Darius Young with 22 points and John Thompson and Rob Bosley with 14 each led My-T-Sharp to its seventh consecutive triumph, offsetting Peter Sharpless's 16 for the losers. All are former Princeton High players.

The roster for the high-flying My-T-Sharp team will be familiar to followers of past Little Tiger teams: Freddie Young, Dave Johnson, John Thompson, Jerome Leonard, Corey Allen, Nerva Jean-Louis, Charles Brown, Robert Bosley and Darius Young.

Also familiar to court followers here are many on the SES squad: Tony Granger, Marv Trotman Jr., Major Brown, Scott Fisher, Darrell Turner, Peter Sharpless, Steve Davis, James Russell, Richie Wilson and Carlton Davidson. The Dillon Demons call themselves free agents. They are Joe and Peter Donnelly, Garfield Brown, Emmanuel 'Jay' Jackson, Ricky Leonard, Eric Bosley, James Sbarra, Thomas Armington, Charles Madden, Jimmy Craig, Rick Bedford, Lorenzo Sykes, Kirk Williams and Dave Wright.

Ficarro's Gains Split In Sunday Doubleheader

On Sunday, before the day's rain washed out the rest of the league's doubleheader slate at Mercer Park, Steve Ficarro's Auto Body team, playing first, managed to get both games in.

Ficarro's defeated Eagle Electric, 4-2, in the first game at noon but then lost, 8-6, to Mercer Spring in the second game. The split left Ficarro's with a 12-6 record and in fifth place in the Mercer County Women's Softball League.

"We could have taken a nice step forward if we had won the second game — but that's baseball," commented Ficarro manager Bob Smyth. "A 12-6 record," he observed, "would usually have you up in the top three but not here. This is a tough league this year."

Next, Ficarro's will oppose Dot's Girls, a team it has yet to beat this year, on Thursday at 6:30 at Mercer Park's Field 5. It will play its last regular season game on Tuesday at 7:30 when it clashes with Grove Plumbing, one of the league's leaders, at Field 3. Still ahead before the playoffs for Ficarro's are five makeup games.

Newly-married Doreen 'Bip' Romanchuk (nee Ragazzo) took to the mound for Ficarro's against Eagle, a team that had defeated Ficarro's, 4-1, in their last meeting, and she responded with a 3-hit performance. At one point, Romanchuk retired 15 Eagle batters in a row.

She received support at the plate from teammates Janet Comerford, who had four hits in four at bats, and from Dee Vertucci, Dee Discavage and Grace Durland, each with two hits apiece. Durland also had a fine defensive game at third, having a hand in seven of the team's 21 putouts.

14 Hits Apiece. As for the 8 to 6 loss to Mercer Spring, Smyth commented, "I wish I could blame it on the weather but I can't." Each team had 14 hits and the rain did make for sloppy playing conditions as the game progressed.

With Romanchuk on the mound again, Ficarro's took a 1-0 lead in the first innings. In the third, Mercer Spring erupted for all of its eight runs, combining eight hits and two Ficarro errors.

Ficarro's got two runs back in the fourth but stranded two more runners. In the fifth, it had runners on second and third and failed to score. In the sixth, two Ficarro runners were thrown out at third.

Ficarro's finally broke through in the seventh when it plated three runs. It had the tying run on base but the game ended when the Mercer Spring left fielder nailed a Ficarro player trying to stretch a base hit.

Six Ficarro batters had two hits or more. Lombardo and Discavage were each 3-for-4, Discavage including a triple and three RBIs in her performance. Trish Kane, Cee Aerstin, Durland and Robyn Hart all had two hits.

"Fourteen hits. You should win when you have that many," commented Smyth. "But we had three people thrown out at third and left a lot on base. We weren't able to get the key hit when it counted."

Sprague Gets Win. Earlier in the week, Ficarro's defeated

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

Who was the oldest man ever to play in a big league baseball game? ... Answer is Satchel Paige — and not only did he pitch in a major league game at age 59 to set the record, but he did very well ... Paige, at 59, pitched for the A's against the Red Sox in a game on Sept. 25, 1965 ... He pitched 3 innings and gave up only one hit — and no runs.

Did you know the reason golf courses have sand traps is because the oldest golf courses in the world, in Scotland, are situated by the sea, and sandy spots are on the courses by nature ... So when other courses were built everywhere else, sand traps were added to make the courses like the original ones in Scotland.

Here's a surprising fact ... Former big league baseball player Al Oliver, who always seemed to be underrated, had more hits in his career than Lou Gehrig, more homers than Ty Cobb, more runs batted in than Roberto Clemente, and more doubles than Willie Mays!

Champale, 11-9, behind the pitching of Karen Sprague who helped her own cause by batting in two runs. Ficarro's connected for 16 hits and led, 8-2 early on. "We were all over them," noted Smyth.

Champale came back with seven runs in the last two innings on five hits and five Ficarro's errors, as Smyth used every player on his squad. Liz Sellinger had three hits in three at bats for the victors, Lombardo drove in three runs with two triples, and Comerford also had two hits and 3 RBIs. Hart was 2-for-3.

Decisive Week Ahead For Post 76 in Race

"It's in their hands. The kids have their own destiny in their hands," said manager Larry Bender Sunday, as his Princeton Post 76 team entered the final and climactic final week of regular season play in the Mercer County American Legion race. To say the race is close is an understatement.

Earlier, Post 76 appeared to be a lock to win a playoff berth, but since the July 4th All-Star game break, the team has played .333 ball, winning three and losing six. Following back-to-back losses to Broad Street Park and Ewing on Friday and Saturday, Post 76 began the final week all even at 11-11 — and tied for fourth place with Bordentown and Trenton which are also 11-11. The goal is to finish fifth or higher. The league champion will receive an automatic berth to the New Jersey American Legion State Tournament. Two more teams from the league that will advance to the State tournament will be determined in a post-season, double-loss elimination between the second through fifth-place finishers that is scheduled to be held Saturday through Monday.

Despite the recent slide, Bender is optimistic about his team's chances. "Sure, we've lost some tough ones," he said, "but we still have five games to play — the same as last year. Actually, we're in a better position than last year when we won our last five and 10 of our last 12. We'll hope for the same results."

Post 76 was scheduled to play Hamilton and Trenton earlier in the week, Mitchell Davis at Mercer Park on Wednesday and Hopewell on Thursday. It will play a makeup of a rained-out contest with Bordentown on Friday at Gilder Field.

Idle on Sunday, the Post 76 pitching staff is rested, the rotation back in sync — two reasons why Bender likes his team's chances. Even if Princeton wins only four of its last five, "we're in," says Bender.

"If we win watch out for us in the playoffs. We will have been on a nice little run and it wouldn't be improbable for that to happen." Of the five remaining opponents, Bender noted that Post 76 has split two games with four and has defeated Trenton twice.

Four Runs in 7th. Against second-place Ewing on Saturday, Princeton was limited to five hits by Post 314's unbeaten hurler Shawn Copeland (6-0) but it had managed to tie the score at 4 in the sixth inning on three walks and A.J. Pietrinferno's double.

Ewing came right back to record its 14th win in 21 starts in the next inning with a game-winning, four-run rally that featured a two-run triple by Mike Ficci. The runs came off losing pitcher Mike Andolina, who pitched the final 3½ innings.

Princeton starter Scott Lord lasted just two-thirds of an inning, yielding three hits and three runs in the first before being yanked by Bender in favor of Shawn Murphy. Murphy allowed two hits and one run in the three innings he worked.

The previous day, Princeton's Pete Prodanov (3-2) and Broad Street Park's Dennis Machulsky (3-2) hooked up in a pitcher's duel. The game was tied at 1 at the end of regulation play.

Prodanov had given up only two hits and a single run in the sixth. Machulsky surrendered Princeton's only run in the fourth when Tim O'Connell doubled home Prodanov who had gotten on via an error by the BSP third baseman.

However, when Prodanov issued a leadoff walk to start the eighth, Bender quick-hooked him and inserted Mark Lee. Lee fanned hard-hitting Eric Snell but was reached for singles by the next two batters to load the bases. Lee got the second out on a play at the plate and it appeared that he might pitch his way out of it.

It was not to be. BSP short-stop John Constantino jumped on Lee's third pitch for a single to right center for the go-ahead and winning run when Princeton failed to score in its half of the eighth.

Machulsky fanned eight and walked two in picking up the win. O'Connell had two of the three hits he gave up, center-fielder Ryan Douglas getting the third. Prodanov had struck out nine and walked five in his seven innings of work.

Two 1-Run Losses. Post 76 had begun the week with one-run losses to Mitchell Davis and Lawrence — both excruciating setbacks.

Last Tuesday, Lawrence Post 148 came from behind to notch a 5-4 victory when Princeton's Jeff Skalinski balked in the winning run. The following day, Bender agonized as his team squandered a 5-0, first-inning lead before ultimately bowing, 10-9, in the last inning, to cellar-dwelling Mitchell Davis.

Murphy's three-run triple in the first inning, highlighted Princeton's 5-0 start against Mitchell Davis, but last-place Post 182 went on to score in each of the five innings after that. Winning pitcher Aaron Clark (1-2) doubled home the tying run in the sixth and first baseman Marty Teel then singled home the winning run.

O'Connell — who is ripping the ball at better than a .400 average — and Greg Papciak also belted triples for Post 76. Catcher Craig Schwartz had two hits in two at bats and first baseman Jason Rizzo drove in a pair of runs but the 10-hit, 9-run, 4-stolen bases effort by Princeton just wasn't enough this day.

Jim Brienza pitched the first five innings for Post 76 in the six-inning game and gave up eight runs. He fanned six but walked five. Andolina, who came on in the sixth and who pitched only a third of an inning, gave up two runs and was charged with the loss, his first. He has no decisions.

AN OLD PRO SHOWS HOW: A former leading scorer on the Princeton High basketball team, Freddie Young demonstrates the art of making a layup in a game last week against the PHS varsity team in the newly-formed summer basketball league. For Shawn Miller (3) it was a case of too little, too late. The league plays Monday and Wednesday evenings at Community Park.

M-D's Bryan Midura, one of the league's leading pitchers with a 4-1 record, patrolled center field for the game, and he proved to be just as tough at the plate as on the mound. Midura had three of the victors' ten hits, including a pair of triples that drove in two runs.

Takes 3-0 Lead. Against Lawrence the previous day, Post 76, as it has in virtually all its starts this year, took the lead, going up 3-0 after two innings. Lawrence erased it in its half of the third with four runs off a pair of doubles by Mike Klim and Mark Polakowski, Klim's coming with the bases jammed.

Princeton tied the game at 4, two innings later, when O'Connell scored on a double steal — his fourth stolen base of the game. Earlier, O'Connell had connected for a home run, his first of the season and the team's fourth.

Bender tried to steal the game by unleashing his base runners at every opportunity. In all, Princeton stole 12 bases, including two each by Scott Petrone and Jason Atlas but, again, the all out effort fell one run short. With the loss, Princeton managed this year to lose all three of its contests to under .500 Lawrence.

Jeff Skalinski pitched all but the last out for Post 76 and was tagged with the loss, his second after three opening wins. He yielded only five hits.

His counterpart on the mound, Kevin Durling, gave up six hits, struck out six and walked six in going the distance for his fourth win against one loss. The win was sweet indeed for Durling, the former Post 76 player, who was let go this summer by Bender.

OBITUARIES

Cyril E. Black, 73, a member of the Princeton University faculty for 50 years, died July 18 of congestive heart failure at Princeton Medical Center. Prof. Black taught history and international relations. Generations of Princeton students took his pioneering course in Russian history and will remember him not only for his teaching and scholarship, but for his genial and generous nature. At the time of his death he was James S. McDonnell Distinguished University Professor of History and International Affairs, emeritus, and had served as director of the University's Center of International Studies from 1968 to 1985.

His general field of interest was modern history, with particular attention to Russian history since 1700. He was concerned with problems of comparative modernization: how countries with widely differing historical experiences make the transition from an agrarian to an industrial way of life under the influence of the scientific and technological revolution. This concern led him to organize collaborative studies of modernization in Japan, Russia, China, the Middle East, and Inner Asia. His interests also included contemporary international relations, and especially Soviet foreign policy and American-Soviet relations.

Prof. Black's publications include The Establishment of Constitutional Government in Bulgaria (1943) and The Dynamics of Modernization: A Study in Comparative History (1966), translated into seven languages. His most recent book was Understanding Soviet Politics: The Perspective of Russian History (1986).

Born in Bryson City, N.C., Prof. Black spent his boyhood in Turkey and Bulgaria. He studied at the University of Besancon in France, the Austro-American Institute of Education in Vienna, and the University of Berlin, before earning his A.B. degree from Duke University in 1936. He held M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University.

Named an instructor in history at Princeton in 1939, he was promoted to professor in 1946, associate professor in 1949, and professor in 1954. The first incumbent of the Duke Professorship of Russian History from 1961 to 1970, he held the Shelby Cullom Davis '30 chair in European history from 1973 to 1983.

Prof. Black inaugurated the study of Russian history at Princeton in 1946 with an undergraduate course which he taught until the 1970s. He also taught courses on comparative revolutions and comparative modernization.

As chairman of the Coordinating Committee on Foreign and International Affairs from 1961 to 1968, Prof. Black played a leading role in the development of regional studies at Princeton. Among the committee's activities was the Cooperative Undergraduate Program for Critical Languages, inaugurated in 1963, which brought the first women undergraduates to Princeton five years before coeducation was formally introduced.

During World War II, Prof. Black served with the State Department in Washington and Eastern Europe. In Washington he was a country specialist, and secretary of the Subcommittee on Territorial Affairs of the Secretary of State's Advisory Committee on Postwar Problems. As a Foreign Service Auxiliary Officer, he served as aide to the United States Political Adviser on the Allied Control Commission in Bulgaria, 1944-45, during the period of the Communist takeover.

In the fall of 1945, he was adviser to the Ethridge Mission sent to Bulgaria, Romania, and the Soviet Union to report on the implementation of the Yalta Declaration on Liberated Europe. These assignments led later to false charges of "espionage" against Prof. Black and other American officials by the Bulgarian government, as part of its campaign to reduce American influence in that country.

After the war, Prof. Black served on the United States Delegation to the United Nations Security Council Commission of Investigation Concerning Greek Frontier Incidents; on the United Nations Subcommittee on the Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities and as consultant to the CIA Board of National Estimates. In 1958 he served on the United States Delegation to Observe Elections to the USSR Supreme Soviet and met with Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

He is survived by his wife, Corinne; a son, James Black of Cheverly, Md.; a daughter, Christina Black of New York City; and a granddaughter, Madeleine.

A private committal service will be held at Princeton Cemetery. A memorial service will be held at the Princeton University Chapel in September at a date to be announced. Arrangements are under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Benjamin D. Meritt, professor emeritus in the School of Historical Studies at the Institute for Advanced Study and visiting scholar in the Department of Classics at the University of Texas at Austin, died July 7 at his home in Austin, Texas.

Prof. Meritt was born in 1899 in Durham, N.C. He received his B.A. and M.A. from Hamilton College and his Ph.D. in classics from Princeton University in 1924. He taught at the Universities of Vermont and Michigan, Brown University, University of Oxford, The Johns Hopkins University and Princeton University before coming to the Institute as professor in 1935. At the time of his appointment to the Institute, he was one of four scholars who constituted the faculty of the School of Humanistic Studies (as the School of Historical Studies was first called).

He was an archaeologist and epigrapher, associated since his student days in 1920 with the excavations in Athens undertaken by the American School of Classical Studies at Athens. Among his many publications were The Athenian Year, The Chronology of Hellenistic Athens, Epigraphica Attica, and most important, the four volumes of The Athenian Tribute Lists. His work on ancient financial documents (a few dozen battered marble inscriptions and a few hundred allusive references in the ancient authors) was considered to have revolutionized the study of the Athenian Empire, and his achievement was regarded as one of the triumphs of classical scholarship in modern times.

He also edited more than 7000 marble inscriptions found in the excavation of the Athenian Agora, comprising laws, treaties, dedications, lists of civic officials, records of mortgages, boundary stones, sepulchral epigrams, both public and private. For both these projects, he gathered and trained a number of able scholars and their collaborative research resulted in a series of seminal articles published in Hesperia.

In his later years at the Institute, he worked on compiling an Attic prosopography which would provide a directory of thousands of ancient Greek names derived from inscriptions, pottery and literature, a project still in progress under the supervision of John Traill of the University of Toronto. Prof. Meritt was a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the British Academy and was twice decorated by the Greek government.

He is survived by his wife, Lucy Shoe Meritt; two sons, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The service and burial were in Austin, Tex. Contributions may be sent to the Friends of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens, c/o Doreen Spitzer, 659 Lake Drive, Princeton 08540.

Bulletin Notes

The guest preacher Sunday at the 10 a.m. service in the Princeton University Chapel will be the Rev. Richard L. Thulin, Ulrich Professor of the Art of Preaching at the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, Pa. Dr. Thulin is an alumnus of the University of California at Berkeley, Augustana Theological Seminary, the University of Chicago Divinity School, and Boston University School of Theology. He served parishes in Massachusetts and Connecticut and was professor of practical theology at Hamma Divinity School, Springfield, Ohio, before coming to Gettysburg in 1977.

His sermon topic is entitled "Writer's Prep."

A Bible seminar and craft workshop for women will be held under the auspices of Princeton Alliance Church August 7 to 11 from 9 a.m. to noon daily at Princeton High School.

All area women are invited. A nursery will be provided for those attending.

The seminar forms part of the church's daily vacation Bible School, "Kids Klub Safari," under the direction of the Rev. Robert R. Cushman, executive pastor and director of Christian education and his wife, Linda. Mr. and Mrs. Cushman have directed Bible schools in central New Jersey for the past 12 years.

The Continentals, a Christian musical group, will present a concert of inspirational and traditional Christian music on Tuesday at 7:30 at the Montgomery Evangelical Free Church on Griggstown Road in Belle Mead.

Featuring 24 vocalists and a 10-piece orchestra, the Continentals' two-part program will include popular Christian songs, hymn medleys and gospel music arrangements.

Now in its 22nd year, the Continental Singers and Orchestra will send 12 tours to perform in 48 states and more than 25 countries throughout the world.

A special junior high program will be conducted for those in grades six to eight with field trips, craft projects and activities geared to their interests. The program will culminate on Friday evening, August 11, when all students from "Kid's Klub Safari" will sing and perform with the "Safari" puppets.

The program is open to children and women of all faiths. There is no registration fee.

Further information is available from the church office at 50 Princeton-Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction, telephone 799-9000.

The Griggstown Reformed Church and the First Reformed Church of Rocky Hill will sponsor a Vacation Bible School August 7 through 11 from 9 to noon at the Griggstown Reformed Church, 1261 Canal Road in Griggstown.

There will be singing, craft projects, and graded Bible discovery sessions. The Bible School is open to all youngsters in the area. For additional information, call Dena Ferguson at (201) 359-1961.

PROTECT OUR PLANET: It's the only one we have. Take time to look at the world around you. In some places it is still beautiful and unspoiled, but in all too many areas our civilization has taken its toll. In ever increasing amounts, we are polluting our air and water, turning land into a gigantic trash dump, and eradicating plant and animal life.
With our population growth and diminishing wilderness, it benefits us to keep these actions to a minimum. God gave us the earth and its natural resources to use, not destroy. Give thanks and resolve to do what you can to preserve the earth and its creatures.

Cherry Valley Road
New Listing

Handsome lighted gate posts mark the entrance to this magnificent new brick house. The classic architectural lines of the exterior are deceptive as the 6065 sq. ft. of interior space lend themselves to rooms of expansive proportions and appointments of superior quality which must be seen to be appreciated. Massive double doors open to the large foyer with its graceful curved stairway, the living room with marble fireplace and the cherry panelled library. A door gives access to one of three beautiful blue stone balustraded terraces. A two story family room is breathtaking with a dramatic brick fireplace from floor to ceiling and a soaring Palladian window. The formal dining room has the artistic molding used throughout the house. The kitchen is superb and the powder room fixtures are gold plated. The second floor is as spacious as the first with a huge master bedroom, luxurious bath, exercise room with jacuzzi, four bedrooms and 2 spectacular baths. A brick wall fireplace enhances the party room on the lower level. All on 6+ choice acres in Hopewell Township with a Princeton address.
